Aéroports de Paris June 2008 traffic figures

Passenger traffic figures

In June 2008, Aéroports de Paris recorded an increase of 1.9 % in passenger traffic compared with June 2007. Paris airports handled 7.8 million passengers divided up between 5.5 million for Paris-Charles de Gaulle airport (+2.8%) and 2.3 million for Paris-Orly airport (-0.3%).

Traffic figures for June 2008 were marked by an increase on international routes.

Domestic traffic stood at -3.9%. European traffic grew by 1.8%. Traffic on Schengen routes recorded an increase of 2.5%. The British and Irish markets recorded a decrease of 5.6%.

Traffic on the other international routes reached a 6.1% increase. The North and Latin American markets rose by 6%. The African market grew by 8.5%. A 3.9% increase was recorded on routes to and from Asia and the Middle East.

For the first half of 2008, passenger traffic grew by 2.8%. In an environment marked particularly by a tendency to increase plane tickets prices and by a rationalisation of some airlines offer, Aéroports de Paris expects an annual growth of passenger growth between 2.5% and 3% for 2008 (against a previously expected growth close to the 3.75% hypothesis made by the Economic Regulation Contract). Aéroports de Paris maintains the expected growths of turnover and EBITDA for 2008 which should be substantially superior to traffic growth.

In a less favourable global environment, Aéroports de Paris should benefit from the better resistance of major hubs in general and of the excellent attractivity of Paris in particular, as well as the solidness of its main client airlines. Hence, Aéroports de Paris expects passenger traffic to reach between 2% and 3.5% growth in 2009.

The Group maintains its objective of EBITDA growth at + 60% in absolute value between 2005 and 2010.
